CalSCHLS

2023-24 Trainings and Workshops

CalSCHLS offers a variety of virtual trainings and an in-person data workshop. All virtual trainings are offered at no charge to county offices of education and school districts in California. The in-person data workshop is offered at the California Department of Education (CDE) subsidized rate of $125/hour for preparation and presentation time plus travel expenses. The CDE covers the cost of one in-person data workshop hosted by a county office of education for participating districts once every two years. This Guide provides an overview of the options for virtual trainings and the data workshop.
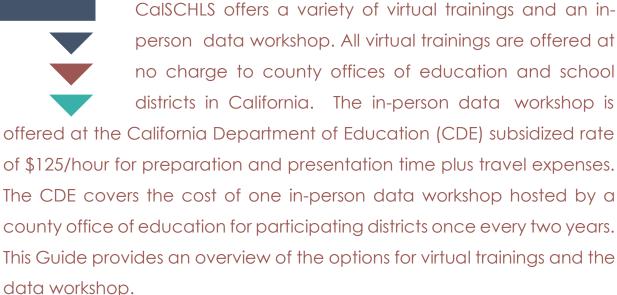

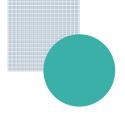

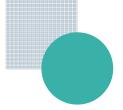

Virtual Trainings

Virtual trainings are offered at no charge to the county office of education or to the district requesting them. There are three types of virtual trainings which may be combined into one session with three parts or offered separately as three stand-alone trainings. Each of the three trainings, whether combined or offered as stand-alone trainings, can be customized to meet the needs of participants. What follows are all the possible topics that could be covered but will necessarily need to be limited to the time constraints and interests of the county or district.
